Reconnect to your dreams and reinvent yourself with dolphin coaching

What if you dare to embrace your dream and reinvent yourself with two professional Executive Coaches and a hundred dolphins in the middle of the Red Sea?

How about increasing your level of awareness of the world, looking to the future with serenity, developing your agility and the fluidity of your relationship with yourself and others?

We invite you to live for a week a unique reconnection with yourself to reach all your potential through the meeting with free dolphins in the heart of the Red Sea.

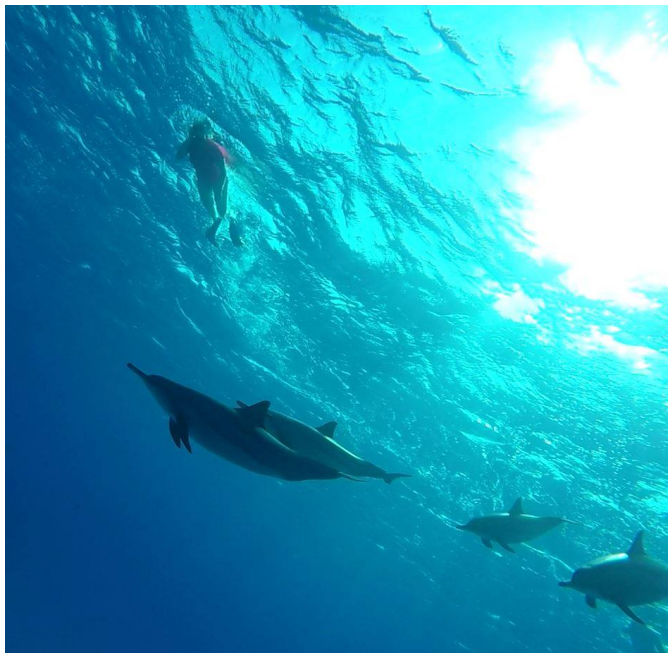

Accompanied by two coaches, you will alternate individual coaching sessions, group coaching sessions and snorkeling in the heart of the lagoon to meet the dolphins or to discover multicolored corals and fish.

You will benefit from three individual coaching sessions: one before departure to determine your coaching goal, one day of individual coaching during the seminar to amplify the mirror effect of the dolphins and one session after the seminar to take stock what you learned from you and your transformations.

You will also have the opportunity to participate in collective 3D coaching in the form of systemic constellations to offer you new perspectives.

Dolphins have many qualities that make it easier to support people. They are sensitive, assertive, sometimes confronting, curious, players, and experts in synchronization. Swimming among them invites to connect with oneself and others. The dolphins act as a real mirror offering new perspectives and accelerating awareness that are necessary for transformations.

You will experience an overwhelming, confrontational experience and profound transformations.

Each day, you will look in the water for answers to your problematic, whose response will emerge through the encounter with dolphins, enriched by sharing with the group and our feedback.

This coaching facilitated by the dolphin will allow you to let go, take a fresh look at your activity, increase your level of consciousness, develop your intuition and remove the brakes from fears and limiting beliefs.

You will be able to directly apply what you will experience and learn with dolphins in your life in the company and in your relationships with others.
